Question 1

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_001

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Remembering

Marks: 5

Question: Describe how the tiger came to the solitary hut and what he witnessed while peeping through the window.

Answer Key: A tiger was roaming around the outskirts of a forest near a solitary hut. Although he was not at all hungry, he heard the incessant, non-stop wailing of a baby coming from inside the hut. Curious to know why the child was crying so bitterly, he walked up to the hut and began peeping through a window. Inside, he saw a mother holding her crying baby close to her bosom, rocking it to and fro to calm it down. To quiet the child, the mother first warned that a hungry fox would hear and eat it, then a hungry bear, and finally a hungry tiger. However, none of these wild animal threats had any effect, and the baby continued crying loudly.

Question 2

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_002

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Understanding

Marks: 5

Question: Explain how the word 'persimmon' caused the tiger to form a massive misunderstanding.

Answer Key: When the mother's threats of a fox, bear, and tiger failed to stop the baby's crying, the mother finally said, 'Hush baby hush. There is a persimmon.' On hearing the name of the fruit, the baby fell completely silent. The peeping tiger was astonished. He did not know that a persimmon was merely a sweet orange fruit that the baby wanted to eat. Instead, his foolish ego made him reason that if a child was not afraid of a fierce tiger but fell silent at the word 'persimmon', then a persimmon must be a terrifying, giant beast far more ferocious and dangerous than a tiger. This single misunderstanding sparked intense fear in the tiger.

Question 3

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_003

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Remembering

Marks: 5

Question: Narrate the climax of the story involving the thief, the slanting thatched roof, and the tiger's wild flight.

Answer Key: While the tiger was standing beneath the window fearing the imaginary 'persimmon' monster, a thief was hiding on the slanting thatched roof of the hut waiting to break in. Suddenly, the thief lost his balance on the slippery thatch and fell directly onto the tiger's back in the dark. The tiger jumped in absolute fright, convincing himself that the terrifying persimmon monster had pounced on him from above. In sheer terror for his life, the tiger ran frantically into the night. The thief, equally terrified to find himself riding a wild tiger, managed to slip off its back, and the foolish tiger ran deep into the forest, never returning.

Question 4

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_004

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Understanding

Marks: 5

Question: What is the moral of 'The Tiger and the Persimmon'? Explain how the story illustrates this moral.

Answer Key: The moral of the story is 'We fear the unknown.' This moral is illustrated through the tiger's irrational behavior. Because the tiger did not know what a 'persimmon' was, his imagination filled the knowledge gap with terrifying assumptions. He turned a sweet, harmless fruit into a monstrous beast simply because he did not understand the word. Furthermore, when an unknown object (the thief) fell on him in the dark, his unexamined fear drove him to run away in terror. The story teaches that ignorance and lack of information create artificial, exaggerated fears.

Question 5

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_005

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Understanding

Marks: 5

Question: Explain the vocabulary words from Chapter 03: Outskirt, Solitary, Incessant, Bosom, and Thatched.

Answer Key: 1. Outskirt: The outer edge or boundary of a town or forest. Sentence: The tiger roamed near the outskirts of the forest.

2. Solitary: Isolated or alone. Sentence: A solitary hut stood near the woods.

3. Incessant: Continuous and never stopping. Sentence: The baby's incessant crying attracted the tiger.

4. Bosom: The chest area. Sentence: The mother held the child close to her bosom.

5. Thatched: Covered with dry straw or reeds. Sentence: The thief hid on the slanting thatched roof.

Question 6

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_006

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Analyzing

Marks: 5

Question: Discuss the character of the tiger in Chapter 03.

Answer Key: The tiger in Chapter 03 is an interesting character who subverts the traditional image of a ferocious apex predator. While he possesses physical strength and a loud roar, he is driven by curiosity rather than hunger. He is also vain about his reputation, getting offended when the baby does not fear a tiger. Most notably, he is highly gullible and imaginative, creating a terrifying monster out of a simple fruit name. His foolish panic when the thief falls on him makes him a hilarious, memorable character.

Question 7

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_007

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Understanding

Marks: 5

Question: How does the mother successfully quiet her baby in Chapter 03?

Answer Key: The mother initially tries physical comforting (rocking to and fro) and fear threats (fox, bear, tiger), all of which fail because an infant does not comprehend wild animal dangers. She successfully quiets her baby by offering a 'persimmon', a sweet fruit that appeals to the child's appetite and sensory pleasure. The offer of food comfort immediately satisfies the child, causing it to fall silent.

Question 8

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_008

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Understanding

Marks: 5

Question: Describe the role of the thief in Chapter 03.

Answer Key: The thief acts as an accidental catalyst for the story's resolution. He has no connection to the tiger or the mother; he is simply hiding on the slanting thatched roof to rob the hut. However, his accidental slip and fall onto the tiger's back in the dark provides the physical trigger that confirms the tiger's false fear of the 'persimmon'. His fall sends the tiger fleeing, saving the hut from both the thief and the predator.

Question 9

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_009

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Understanding

Marks: 5

Question: Summarize Chapter 03 in five structured paragraphs.

Answer Key: Paragraph 1: A curious tiger roamed the forest outskirts and heard a baby wailing inside a solitary hut.

Paragraph 2: Peeping inside, he saw a mother try fear threats of a fox, bear, and tiger, all of which failed to quiet the brave child.

Paragraph 3: When the mother offered a 'persimmon' fruit, the baby stopped crying, leading the tiger to assume persimmon was a ferocious monster.

Paragraph 4: A thief hiding on the roof slipped and fell on the tiger's back, making the tiger believe the persimmon had attacked.

Paragraph 5: Panicked, the tiger ran wildly into the forest, leaving everyone safe and demonstrating that we fear the unknown.

Question 10

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_010

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Analyzing

Marks: 5

*Question: How does Chapter 03 use dramatic irony to create comedy for young readers?

Answer Key: Dramatic irony occurs when the audience knows facts that characters do not. In Chapter 03, readers know that a persimmon is a sweet, harmless fruit and the creature on the roof is a human thief. However, the tiger genuinely believes the persimmon is a giant monster pouncing on him. This contrast between the reader's knowledge and the tiger's wild, terrified overreaction creates delightful visual and situational comedy.

Question 11

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_011

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Understanding

Marks: 5

*Question: Why did the tiger's pride get wounded during the mother's threats?

Answer Key: The tiger considered himself the undisputed king of the forest. When the mother threatened the baby with a tiger and the baby kept crying without fear, the tiger felt his grand reputation was insulted, motivating him to roar to demand fear.

Question 12

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_012

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Analyzing

Marks: 5

*Question: Explain the physical setup of the solitary hut and how it facilitated the plot.

Answer Key: The hut was solitary at the forest edge, allowing the tiger to approach unnoticed. It had a window for peeping and an unstable, slanting thatched roof where the thief hid. The slippery thatch caused the thief's fall directly onto the tiger below.

Question 13

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_013

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Applying

Marks: 5

*Question: How does the moral 'We fear the unknown' apply to modern human behavior?

Answer Key: People frequently fear new situations, unfamiliar cultures, or unverified rumors simply because they lack accurate information. Like the tiger, human imagination often creates imaginary dangers out of unexamined mysteries.

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Medium

Bloom Level: Analyzing

Marks: 5

Question: Critically analyze the tiger's cognitive leap from 'persimmon' to 'ferocious beast'.

Answer Key: The tiger committed a severe cognitive error through flawed deduction:

1. Premise A: The baby is unafraid of foxes, bears, and tigers (brave child).
2. Premise B: The baby falls silent instantly at the word 'persimmon'.
3. False Conclusion: 'Persimmon' must be a creature far more terrifying than a tiger.

This logical fallacy shows how unverified assumptions built on flawed premises produce absurd conclusions.

*Question: Examine the narrative pacing in Chapter 03 from curiosity to panic.

Answer Key: Pacing shifts effectively:

1. Slow & Curious: Tiger roaming, hearing wails, peeping through window.
2. Building Tension: Mother's escalation of animal threats; tiger getting angry.
3. Sudden Shift: Mother says 'persimmon', baby quiets down; tiger confused.
4. Explosive Climax: Thief slips from roof, falls on tiger; wild sprint into darkness.
5. Calming Resolution: Thief slips off, tiger flees deep into forest.

Question 28

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_028

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Medium

Bloom Level: Evaluating

Marks: 5

*Question: Evaluate the use of slapstick elements in traditional folklore storytelling.

Answer Key: Slapstick elements—a thief slipping off a thatched roof, falling squarely onto a tiger's back in the dark, and a mighty predator running terrified from an imaginary fruit monster—add physical comedy. This slapstick style engages young readers while embedding the serious moral that fear of the unknown turns anyone into a fool.

Question 29

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_029

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Medium

Bloom Level: Analyzing

Marks: 5

*Question: Discuss how Chapter 03 explores the theme of 'Perception vs. Reality'.

Answer Key: Perception: The tiger perceives 'persimmon' as an apex predator and the thief on his back as the monster attacking him. Reality: A persimmon is a sweet fruit and the rider is a scared thief. The story shows that unexamined perception often distorts true reality.

Question 30

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_030

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Medium

Bloom Level: Creating

Marks: 5

*Question: Design a puppet show script outline based on Chapter 03 for primary students.

Answer Key: - Scene 1: Tiger puppet peeping at a cardboard hut window, making confused faces.

- *Scene 2: Mother puppet holding baby puppet; audio of crying and fruit offers.

- *Scene 3: Thief puppet wobbling on straw roof and falling onto tiger puppet.

- Scene 4: Tiger puppet running wildly across stage yelling 'The Persimmon is here!'

Question 31

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_031

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Medium

Bloom Level: Analyzing

Marks: 5

Question: How does the setting of a dark night enhance the tiger's misunderstanding?

Answer Key: Nighttime reduces visibility and heightens sensory paranoia. In the dark, the tiger could not see what landed on his back, allowing his fearful imagination to assume it was the persimmon monster.

Question 32

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_032

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Medium

Bloom Level: Comparing

Marks: 5

Question: Contrast the mother's intention when saying 'persimmon' with the tiger's interpretation.

Answer Key: Mother's intention: Offering a comforting sweet snack to quiet her baby. Tiger's interpretation: Invoking a dark, powerful monster that instills supreme terror.

Question 33

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_033

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Medium

Bloom Level: Evaluating

Marks: 5

Question: Explain why fear of the unknown is a fundamental human emotion.

Answer Key: The brain seeks predictability for survival. When faced with the unknown, lack of data triggers defensive fear, making people overreact to unfamiliar situations.

Question 34

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_034

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Medium

Bloom Level: Analyzing

Marks: 5

Question: How does the thief's presence add an extra layer of irony to the narrative?

Answer Key: It is ironic that a criminal intending to rob a helpless family ends up accidentally scaring away a dangerous tiger, unintentionally protecting the very home he tried to rob.

Question 35

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_035

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Medium

Bloom Level: Analyzing

Marks: 5

*Question: Describe how the author builds the tiger's inflated sense of self-importance.

Answer Key: By showing the tiger proud of the baby's bravery against foxes/bears, but becoming offended and angry when the baby refuses to fear a tiger, establishing his ego before his downfall.

Question 36

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_036

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Medium

Bloom Level: Understanding

Marks: 5

*Question: Why is the phrase 'threat fell on deaf ears' appropriate in this context?

Answer Key: It poetically describes how the infant ignored threats of wild predators because it was too young to understand animal dangers, caring only about food.

Question 37

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_037

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Medium

Bloom Level: Evaluating

Marks: 5

*Question: Evaluate the effectiveness of the story's moral statement at the end.

Answer Key: The simple moral 'We fear the unknown' perfectly synthesizes the entire plot, serving as a memorable summary for students to reflect on their own fears.

Question 38

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_038

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Medium

Bloom Level: Applying

Marks: 5

*Question: How can Class 5 teachers use Chapter 03 to teach vocabulary in context?

Answer Key: Teachers can use contextual clues for words like 'solitary', 'incessant', and 'outskirt', having students deduce meanings from story actions before consulting dictionary definitions.

Question 39

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_039

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Medium

Bloom Level: Analyzing

Marks: 5

*Question: Deconstruct the structural function of the baby's wailing in driving the plot.

Answer Key: The baby's wailing acts as the inciting incident. It attracts the tiger, prompts the mother's threats, leads to the word 'persimmon', and sets up the entire sequence of events.

Question 40

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_040

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Medium

Bloom Level: Creating

Marks: 5

*Question: Construct a dialogue between two villagers discussing the tiger's sudden flight the next morning.

Answer Key: 'Did you hear the loud noise last night?' 'Yes! A thief fell from a roof onto a tiger, and the tiger ran away terrified of a persimmon!' 'What a foolish tiger!'

Question 41

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_041

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Hard

Bloom Level: Evaluating

Marks: 5

*Question: Critique the tiger's cognitive failure from a behavioral psychology standpoint.

Answer Key: The tiger suffered from cognitive distortion via catastrophic misinterpretation. Lacking schema for the word 'persimmon', he assigned maximum threat value to it. When tactile stimulus (thief falling) occurred, his brain confirmed the catastrophic bias, triggering an acute fight-or-flight response dominated by flight.

Question 42

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_042

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Hard

Bloom Level: Analyzing

Marks: 5

*Question: Deconstruct the folklore motif of the 'Foolish Predator' in world literature.

Answer Key: The 'Foolish Predator' motif (seen in Korean, African, and Indian folklore) subverts physical dominance. By giving powerful animals silly intellectual flaws, folklore reassures humans that intelligence, wit, and facts can overcome raw physical strength.

Question 43

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_043

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Hard

Bloom Level: Synthesizing

Marks: 5

*Question: Synthesize the literary devices used in Chapter 03 (irony, personification, pacing, climax).

Answer Key: 1. *Dramatic Irony: Reader knows truth while tiger is deceived.

2. *Personification: Tiger thinking in human language.

3. *Narrative Pacing: Building from quiet peeping to explosive flight.

4. *Climax: Collision of thief's fall with tiger's inner fear.

*Question: Formulate a comprehensive assessment rubric for Chapter 03 story analysis.

Answer Key: - Factual Comprehension (20%): Accurately recalling plot points and settings.

- Vocabulary Contextualization (20%): Correctly applying terms like 'incessant', 'solitary'.
- Irony & Motif Analysis (30%): Explaining dramatic irony and character misconceptions.
- Moral Evaluation (30%): Relating 'We fear the unknown' to personal and societal behavior.

Question 45

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_045

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Hard

Bloom Level: Evaluating

Marks: 5

*Question: Evaluate how Chapter 03 promotes media literacy and critical thinking in modern students.

Answer Key: Just as the tiger feared an unverified word, modern students often fear unverified online rumors. The story teaches students to fact-check information before reacting with panic.

Question 46

Question ID: BK05_CH03_LA_046

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Hard

Bloom Level: Comparing

Marks: 5

*Question: Compare the tiger's fear in Chapter 03 with the jackal's fear in Book 3 Chapter 02.

Answer Key: Both characters misidentified environmental signals due to lack of investigation—the jackal tore a hollow drum expecting food; the tiger ran from a fruit expecting a monster.
