Through their actions in A pond near rocks, we learn the important lesson: Always have presence of mind and act quickly when in danger. An old stork could no longer catch fish easily. He lied to the pond animals that men were filling the pond to grow crops. He promised to carry them one by one to a bigger pond, but instead took them to a rock and ate them. When the clever crab offered to go, he saw fish bones at the rock, realized the trick, and pinched the stork's neck until he died, saving himself.
