Question 1

Question ID: BK05_CH12_LA_001

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Remembering

Marks: 5

Question: Examine the poetic devices used in 'The Magic of Books': Simile, Metaphor, and Imagery.

Answer Key: The poem 'The Magic of Books' uses rich poetic devices to celebrate reading:

- Simile: In the opening line, 'Books are like a magic door', the poet uses 'like' to compare opening a book to stepping through an enchanted door that leads to wonderful places.
- Metaphor: In the final line, 'A treasure house within their mind!', the poet directly equates the human mind to a treasure house without using 'like' or 'as', emphasizing that reading fills the mind with permanent, precious knowledge and ideas.
- Visual & Spatial Imagery: The poet paints vivid mental scenes—'take you to the sky', 'deep below where oceans lie', 'kingdoms, brave and grand', and 'tiny creatures in the sand'—engaging young readers' imagination.

Question 2

Question ID: BK05_CH12_LA_002

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Understanding

Marks: 5

Question: Describe the journey of imagination that books offer to readers according to the poem.

Answer Key: According to the poem, a book offers an unlimited journey of imagination:

- Spatial Exploration: Books can transport readers high into the sky or down to the depths of ocean floors.
- World Discovery: They reveal grand, brave kingdoms of royalty and heroes, as well as microscopic worlds containing tiny creatures in the sand.
- Social & Human Connection: Readers meet diverse new friends across age groups ('both young and old') and hear heroic, untold stories.
- Emotional Range: Readers experience laughter, tears, and nostalgia ('dream about the days gone by').
- Ultimate Destination: Reading takes imagination to 'lands of joy and pure delight', creating a rich treasure house of wisdom inside the mind.

Question 3

Question ID: BK05_CH12_LA_003

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Understanding

Marks: 5

Question: Explain why the poet describes a reader's mind as a 'treasure house' and compare it with physical wealth.

Answer Key: The poet describes a reader's mind as a 'treasure house' because reading continuously enriches the mind with valuable knowledge, creative ideas, beautiful memories, and moral wisdom. Comparing this mental treasure house with physical wealth reveals deep truths:

- Physical Wealth: Money, gold, or toys can be spent, damaged, lost, or stolen, and their enjoyment is temporary.

- Mental Treasure: Knowledge and imaginative experiences stored in the mind cannot be stolen or lost. They grow richer over time, expand creative problem-solving skills, and provide lifelong comfort and joy. Therefore, the mind's treasure house earned through reading is far more valuable than physical wealth.

Question 4

Question ID: BK05_CH12_LA_004

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Remembering

Marks: 5

Question: Describe the structure, rhythm, and rhyme scheme of the poem 'The Magic of Books'.

Answer Key: The poem 'The Magic of Books' is structured thoughtfully for young readers:

- Stanzaic Structure: It consists of 4 four-line stanzas (quatrains), making a total of 16 lines.
- Rhyme Scheme: Every stanza follows an AABB rhyme scheme consisting of rhyming couplets:
 - Stanza 1: door/adore (A), thin/within (B)
 - Stanza 2: sky/lie (A), grand/sand (B)
 - Stanza 3: old/untold (A), cry/by (B)
 - Stanza 4: flight/delight (A), find/mind (B)
- Rhythm & Musicality: The regular meter and rhyming couplets create a bouncy, musical rhythm that makes the poem easy to recite, memorize, and appreciate.

Question 5

Question ID: BK05_CH12_LA_005

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Understanding

Marks: 5

Question: Explain the vocabulary word 'adore' and discuss why readers adore the places books take them.

Answer Key: In the vocabulary section of Chapter 12, 'adore' is defined as 'to love deeply'. In the poem, the line 'That takes you places you'll adore' explains why readers fall deeply in love with books:

- Books take readers away from daily routines into enchanted worlds of fantasy, adventure, and beauty.
- Readers adore discovering high skies, deep ocean beds, brave kingdoms, and miniature natural worlds.
- The joy of meeting memorable story friends and experiencing exciting adventures makes readers deeply adore the experience of reading.

Question 6

Question ID: BK05_CH12_LA_006

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Understanding

Marks: 5

Question: Discuss how books evoke different human emotions as described in the third stanza.

Answer Key: The third stanza explores how books connect deeply with human emotions:

1. Empathy & Friendship: 'You'll meet new friends, both young and old' shows that books build emotional connections with diverse characters.
2. Adventure & Wonder: 'Hear stories brave, and tales untold' excites readers with heroic courage and fresh narrative discovery.
3. Humor & Compassion: 'With every page, you'll laugh or cry' shows that stories evoke joy, laughter, sympathy, and tears.
4. Nostalgia & Reflection: 'Or dream about the days gone by' allows readers to reflect on past memories and historical times.

Question 7

Question ID: BK05_CH12_LA_007

Type: Long Answer

Difficulty: Easy

Bloom Level: Analyzing

Marks: 5

Question: Explain how the poem uses binary opposites (contrasts) to demonstrate that books cover everything.

Answer Key: The poet strategically uses contrasting pairs (binary opposites) to show that books embrace the entire universe:

- Physical Thickness: 'pages thick and pages thin' (covers long novels and short stories alike).
- Vertical Space: 'to the sky' vs 'deep below where oceans lie' (covers vast heights and ocean depths).
- Scale: 'kingdoms, brave and grand' vs 'tiny creatures in the sand' (covers massive empires and tiny insects).
- Age: 'both young and old' (embraces all generations of characters).
- Emotions: 'laugh or cry' (encompasses joy and sadness).

These contrasts prove that no matter what a reader seeks, books contain it all.
